Dividend outlook: Dividend growth is making a comeback

Facing a more positive economic outlook, many companies are expected to increase their dividend payments

- With interest rates at very low levels we believe many investors seeking income should take note of the trend in rising dividend payouts in 2012
- 2011 dividend growth was strongest in the UK and estimated dividend growth for 2012 is shaping up to be strong as well
- We believe global dividend growth will average approximately 10% this year

We believe that increased dividend growth in 2010 and 2011 may create a number of strong investment opportunities for the Henderson Global Equity Income Fund.

International investing involves certain risks and increased volatility not associated with investing solely in the US. These risks included currency fluctuations, economic or financial instability, lack of timely or reliable financial information or unfavorable political or legal developments. The Fund may invest in securities issued by smaller companies which typically involves greater risk than investing in larger companies. Also, the Fund may invest in limited geographic areas and/or sectors which may result in greater market volatility. In addition, the Fund may invest in derivatives. Derivatives involve special risks different from, and potentially greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities and may result in greater losses.

Investment products offered are not FDIC insured, may lose value, and are not bank guaranteed.

One should consider the investment objectives, risks, fees and expenses of any mutual fund carefully before investing.
