PROPOSED CHANGES TO THE HENDERSON EXTRA HIGH YIELD BOND UNIT TRUST

Proposed additional investment powers and name change for Henderson Extra High Yield Bond Unit Trust

As an investor in the Henderson Extra High Yield Bond Unit Trust this letter serves to explain the changes that we propose making to the Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the accompanying circular, which provides full details of the proposals.

The proposals are:

- to change the Fund's investment policy, giving it the power to utilise derivatives for investment purposes as well as Efficient Portfolio Management (which will include expansion of the investment and borrowing powers of the Fund to permit investment in derivatives).
- to change the Fund's name from Henderson Extra High Yield Bond Unit Trust to Henderson Extra Monthly Income Bond Fund.

It is important that you read the enclosed proposal documents carefully. If there is anything about which you are uncertain you should consult your financial adviser. If approved, changes become effective from 21 June 2010.

Why is Henderson proposing to make changes to the Fund's investment policy?

The fund managers believe that incorporating modern investment techniques such as broader use of derivatives allows for a more flexible and efficient way to manage the portfolio. Using derivatives for investment purposes is expected to enable the managers to potentially further enhance income and protect capital. The use of derivatives is therefore not likely to materially increase the risk profile or volatility of the Fund. Moreover, while the change to the Fund's investment policy would confer wider investment powers, the mainstay of investment activity will remain in ordinary fixed income securities. The use of derivatives would simply be an additional tool to complement the existing strategy.

Understanding how we use derivatives

Derivatives are an investment instrument with a value derived from the price of a physical asset, index or security. Instead of buying or selling the asset itself we would use a derivative to achieve a similar effect. Benefits associated with using a derivative instead of trading the underlying physical asset include:

- Liquidity and flexibility - derivatives allow the fund managers to initiate or exit investment positions quickly and provides for the possibility of generating a positive return when a security falls in value.

- Low cost exposure - derivatives trade at a fraction of the purchase price of the underlying asset or security.

As with most investment activities you should be aware that the use of derivatives can generate either a profit or a loss depending on whether or not the investment position is successful.

Reason for the proposed name change

The name of the fund is to change from the Henderson Extra High Yield Bond Unit Trust to the Henderson Extra Monthly Income Bond Fund. This is to more clearly differentiate the fund from other bond funds in the Henderson range and will take place whether or not the change to the investment policy takes place. The name change will become effective at 9.00am on 21 June 2010.

Action to be taken

Implementation of the proposed change to the investment policy depends on the passing of an extraordinary resolution at an Extraordinary General Meeting to be held on 24 May 2010 at 2:20pm, notice of which is given in Appendix 3 of the enclosed proposal circular. The procedure for the Extraordinary General Meeting is set out in Appendix 1. If approved, changes become effective from 21 June 2010.

Your vote counts

We urge you to vote in favour of the extraordinary resolution. To be passed, the resolution requires a majority in favour of no less than 75% of the votes cast, so it is important that you exercise your right to vote. 6. Please return in the enclosed pre-paid envelope or post to Henderson Global Investors, Unit 4b, Chelmsford Road Industrial Estate, Great Dunmow CM6 1HD.
